09:00 - 10:15  Session 1
The Asian Economy: Systemic Risks & Structural Reforms
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)
- Global trade recovery and China’s better-than-expected growth has brightened the prospect of the Asian economy. Is this momentum sustainable?
- Countries tend to slow the pace of structural reforms when good days are coming. Will Asia slow down in structural reforms?
- What are the structural and systemic risks that might disrupt growth?
Panelists
- Sanjaya BARU, Secretary General, FICCI
- DAI Xianglong, Former Governor, People’s Bank of China
- FAN Gang, Director, National Economic Research Institute
- Masaaki Shirakawa, Former Governor, the Bank of Japan

09:00 - 10:15  Session 2
Getting the Distance Right: Close, but Clean
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)
- “Connections” have long been held as a key element of business strategy in Asia, particularly good connections with government officials. This is changing with lasting campaigns against corruption in countries such as China. It’s time to rethink the blurred line and go back to the “close but clean” right distance government officials and businesspeople should keep from each other. But for business people, where should the line be drawn in dealing with government officials?
- Similarly, where should the line be for government officials in performing their duties of regulating and helping the private sector?
Panelists
- LIAO Xiaoji, Former Vice Minister of Commerce, China
- Daniel M. TSAI, Chairman, Fubon Financial
- XIANG Bing, Founding Dean, Cheung Kong Graduate School of Business (CKGSB)
- LEE Yi Shyan, Chairman, Business China

09:00 - 10:15  Session 3
The Future of Transportation
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom C)
- Transportation is changing at a revolutionary pace, faster by the day and increasingly convenient. What are some of the most promising breakthroughs in transportation technologies?
- India will no longer sell fossil fuel cars in 2030 and will turn to electric vehicles instead. China is working on its own timetable and sees electric cars the future of new-energy vehicles. Do electric cars represent the future of the auto industry?
- When will pilotless cars and drones be put to mass passenger and commercial use?
- High-speed rail is changing rail transport in a fundamental way. Research is under way on more revolutionary Hyper loop which may “fly” at 4000 km/h. When “elephants” fly, how fast can they be?
- How smart can transportation and cites be?

Moderator
- TIAN Wei, Host, China Global Television Network (CGTN)

Panelists
- John CHEN, Executive Chairman of the Board & Chief Executive Officer, BlackBerry
- Daniel Kirchert, President & Co-Founder, Byton
- Yasumi KUDO, Chairman, NHK Line
- LIU Hualong, Chairman, CRRC Group
- ZHANG Yue, Chairman & CEO, Broad Group

09:00 - 10:15  Session 4
Island Economies: Inclusive Development in a New Era
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom D)

09:00 - 10:30  CEO Roundtable 3
MNCs in China: Adapting to the Changing Market
(ICC, Level 1, Peacock 1)
(Invitation Only)
- How is the China market changing for MNCs? And how will that change MNCs’ business strategies and plans?
- When will the pre-entry “national treatment” and “negative list” in free-trade experimental zones be ready for country-wide application, and to what extent?
- Policy advice and expectations from MNCs

Discussion Leaders
- WANG Shouwen, Vice Minister of Commerce, China

09:00 - 10:00  Meeting of the Sitting Board of Directors of BFA
(Dongyu Island Hotel, Hesheng Ballroom)

10:00 - 10:30  BFA General Meeting of Members
(Dongyu Island Hotel, Yiyong & Changyan Ballrooms)

10:30 - 11:00  Meeting of the Newly Elected Board of Directors of BFA
Meeting of the Newly Elected Council of Advisors of BFA
(Dongyu Island Hotel, Hesheng Ballroom)

Session 5
The Future of Production
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)

- How will a factory in 20 years be different from today?
- Automation, robots and AI will definitely pose a challenge to manual work and employment, but to what extent? Is it true that we will see massive layoffs at labor-intensive industries such as textiles?
- If so, how do low-income countries survive as they rely so heavily on labor-intensive industries?
- On the other side, will developed countries, long plagued by exorbitant labor costs, regain a competitive edge in manufacturing?

Panelists
- Richard Edmondson BAILEY, President of the Asia Pacific and Japan (APJ) Region for HP
- HU Wenming, Chairman, China Shipbuilding Industry Group
- Stefan OSCHMANN, Chairman of the Executive Board and CEO, Merck
- Rudolf Staudigl, President & CEO, Wacker Chemie AG
- Yuan Hui, Chairman and CEO, Shanghai Xiaoi Robot Technology

Session 6
Emerging Markets: the Cheap Money Trap
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)

- Tightening of expansionary monetary policies of major central banks is believed to be the largest risk facing emerging markets. For one, their currencies and stock markets will face downward pressures as international capital starts to flee.
- On the other hand, as developed economies de-leverage, emerging markets have seen their debts balloon. With global interest rate hikes pushing up funding costs, are emerging markets well grounded to pay down, and how?
- Developed countries are rethinking outsourcing in order to keep jobs at home. With less dividends from globalization, what are the new growth drivers for emerging markets?

Moderator
- Andrew BROWNE, Senior Correspondent and Columnist, The Wall Street Journal

Panelists
- Mohammed Mahfoodh Al Ardhi, Executive Chairman, Investcorp
- Hans-Paul Bürkner, Chairman, Boston Consulting Group
- Thomas LEMBONG, Chairman, Indonesia Investment Coordinating
March 6, 2018

- LI Yang, Former Vice President, China Academy of Social Sciences

10:45 - 12:00 Session 7
The Marginalized Rural Asia
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom D)
- Rural decline is a global challenge. Be it the US, Sweden or Sub-Sahara, urban-rural disparity keeps growing. Not just cities are plagued by "Urban Disease", rural areas are similarly plagued by "Rural Disease", though different in a big way.
- How have villages, social fabric, farming and environment been adversely affected by urbanization?
- Countries such as Japan have made efforts to reinvigorate rural areas, and China recently launched a similar strategy of rural reinvigoration. What is our vision of Rural Asia in the next 10-20 years? Where should we start to make it happen?

Panelists
- HAN Changfu, Minister of Agriculture, China
- LIU Yanshui, Director, RARD, China Academy of Sciences
- LIU Yonghao, Chairman, New Hope Group
- Ajit RANADE, Senior President & Chief Economist, Aditya Birla Group

The Belt & Road: Case studies & Success Stories
(ICC, Level 1, Peacock 1)
(Invitation Only)
- The Belt & Road Initiative is more than concept on paper. A number of successful projects have testified to its feasibility, viability and sustainability. Here, we invite the governments and corporations involved to share with us what makes a successful Belt & Road project.

Discussion Leaders
- HE Yu, Chairman, China General Nuclear Power Corp
- Awais Ahmed Khan Leghari, Minister of Energy, Pakistan
- LI Changjing, Chairman, China Railway Group
- Sok Siphana, Advisor of the Royal Government of Cambodia & Advisor to the Supreme National Economic Council with rank of Minister
- XU Lirong, Chairman, China COSCO Shipping Corporation

12:00 - 13:15 Buffet Lunch

13:30 - 14:45 Session 8
The Next Wave of Technological Revolution

(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)
- 10 years from the Subprime Crisis, the world economy is still short of strong and sustained growth. Most believe that this is due to lack of a wave of technological revolution similar to the Internet that is transforming enough to bring the economy into a new expansionary cycle.
- What’s the next wave of technological revolution like? Is it a single technological breakthrough or a cluster or convergence of diverse technologies? In the case of the latter, what could these technologies be and how would they interplay?

Moderator
- Karishma VASWANI, Asia Business Correspondent, BBC World News

Panelists

- ZHANG Yaqin, President, Baidu

13:30 - 14:45
Session 9
From Big to Great

(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)
- The majority Chinese companies dream of growing big through diversification, IPO and M&A, and joining the ranks of Fortune-500. Size matters. It’s hard for many to understand the downsizing of many giant companies such as IBM, Sony and Toshiba. Downsizing, in their eyes, is merely an excuse for the unstoppable decline of a company.
- Size, or profits? This is the question. Be big, strong or good? While the Chinese economy is shifting its focus from size to quality, it may be time for our business leaders to rethink their choices and appreciate the difference between Big and Great.

The Guangdong-HK-Macao Greater Bay Area
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom C)

- Bay Areas such as Tokyo, New York and San Francisco have proven to be not just an growth nucleus of the economy, but more importantly an innovation hub. In China, the most promising one is the proposed Guangdong-HK-Macao Greater Bay Area.

- What’s unique about bay areas that make them so important economically and tech-wise? Why is Guangdong-HK-Macao chosen as China’s own Greater Bay Area? What is the role of Guangdong, Hong Kong and Macao each in the blueprint?

- One Country, Two systems, Three separate customs territories and Four major cities – this is the biggest reality of the Greater Bay Area, and its biggest headache. What are the solutions?

Moderator
- Victor FUNG, Honorary Chairman, Li & Fung Limited; Group Chairman, Fung Group

Panelists

China and India: Turning Potential into Action
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom D)

- Both China and India are the most populous and fastest-growing countries in the world. Both are located in Asia. Both are emerging markets. The potential of economic cooperation is always there and vital to the sustained prosperity of Asia and the world. The challenge is to turn potential into action, performance and success.

- From a short-term perspective, where can China and India work together to achieve “early harvest”?

- From a long-term perspective, how large can the room of cooperation be?

Moderator
- YANG Rui, Presenter, CCTV

Panelists
- CHEN Deming, Former Minister of Commerce, China
- LONG Yongtu, Former Vice Minister, MOFTEC, China
- Ratan TATA, Chairman Emeritus, Tata Sons

(Dongyu Island Hotel, Yiyong & Changyan Ballrooms)

13:30 - 15:00  CEO Roundtable 6
Energy and Resources: The New “Silk” on the Belt & Road
(ICC, Level 1, Peacock 1)
(Invitation Only)

- Along with infrastructure, energy and resources are seen as key components of the Belt & Road Initiative. What are the vision, blueprint and plans for energy and resources under the Initiative? What are the opportunities for the private sector?

- The key tone of the Belt & Road Initiative is cooperation and win-win. There are both major producers, transit countries and consumers of energy and resources along the Belt & Road. Is there any way to forge a win-win partnership among these countries to guard against drastic volatility of market prices?

Discussion Leaders

- Nur BEKRI, Minister, National Energy Administration, China

13:45 - 15:15  Coffee Break

15:15 - 16:30  Session 11
The Future of Communication
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)

- What are the most promising technologies of communication in the foreseeable future?

- 5G is expected to be put to commercial use around 2019. How significantly different is it from 4G?

- The commercial use of 3G and 4G has fueled explosive growth of the mobile Internet, bringing disruptive changes to a wide range of industries and our life. Will the commercial use of 5G lead to an era of Internet of Things?

- Quantum communication is believed to be safer and more secure. How far is it from mass commercial use?

Panelists

- CHEN Wenchi, Chairman, VIA Technologies Group
- GE Yue, Vice President, Apple
- Leif JOHANSSON, Chairman, Ericsson
- SHEN Wei, Founder, President & CEO, VIVO

15:15 - 16:30  Session 12
Accelerators of the Asian Economic Integration
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)

- Exit of the US from TPP did not deter the remaining 11 signatories from going ahead. Will the high standards and level of TPP be watered down?
In contrast, RCEP covers more countries, is more adaptive to the diversity of Asia, and is expected to make major breakthroughs. If concluded, will the RCEP approach and experiences apply to the Belt & Road in trade liberalization and investment facilitation?

Vice versa. If the Belt & Road makes good progress in investment and trade liberalization, will it help bring Asia closer to an integrated economic community?

Panelists
- Carlos GUTIERREZ, Former Commerce Secretary, USA
- Yasuyuki Sawada, Chief Economist, the Asian Development Bank (ADB)
- Jenny SHIPLEY, Former Prime Minister, New Zealand
- WANG Shouwen, Vice Minister of Commerce, China

Rethinking Overseas Investment
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom D)
- China’s overseas investment boom in 2016 saw a total of 170 billion US dollars leaving the country and investing in non-financial sectors. A large chunk of such investments were not related to the core business of the company, and some involved fraud. As a response, the Chinese government has issued new regulations on overseas investment, listing areas and investment behaviors that are restricted or not encouraged. What’s the rationale behind the new regulations?
- On the other side, developed countries were getting “cautious” on incoming investments from emerging markets such as China, in particular the M&A. Why is that?
- There is a widely-held view that outsourcing of manufacturing benefits just the shareholders and the companies who see their labor, raw material and environment costs go down and profits go up. Other stakeholders are losers, including the government suffering tax loss, local communities in decay and residents losing jobs. Is this a valid assertion? How should emerging overseas investors such as China rethink and readjust their overseas strategies?

Globalization: the Next Phase
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)
- Some believe that we are entering the next phase of globalization, and will see less dividends, less support, more risks and increasing uncertainties. In short, the next phase will see more challenges than opportunities.
- The new phase needs a new approach. What is it?
- The belt & Road Initiative calls for joint efforts from design, planning and execution all the way through to the sharing of benefits. Will this “joint” approach help ease disparity and the widening gap between rich and poor in the globalization process?

Moderator
- John MICKLETHWAIT, Editor-in-Chief, Bloomberg News

Panelists

14:00 - 15:15
Session 16
Advancing Together the 2030 Agenda and the Sustainable Development Goals
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)

- The 2030 Agenda and the 17 sustainable development goals (SDGs) hold out the promise of achieving a more prosperous, inclusive and sustainable world. How can governments, the business sector, and academia community work together to achieve this inspiring vision?
- A fundamental feature of the SDGs is their integrative nature. How can we design innovative policies to synergize public policy making on social, economic, and environmental challenges?
- Achieving the SDGs could open up an estimated US$12 trillion in market opportunities. How can businesses seize these commercial opportunities while fulfilling their social responsibilities?
- The science, technology and innovation transformation under way likewise offer tremendous potentials for SDGs. How can we harness the opportunities of high-tech innovations while tackling their possible disruptive social impact?
- The Belt and Road Initiative has provided a new open and inclusive platform for international development cooperation. How can those countries along the Belt and Road take the opportunity provided by the Initiative to accelerate the achievement of SDGs?

40 Years of Reform & Opening: China and the World
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom D)
China's reform and opening up has gone on in the past 40 years not in isolation or on its own, but in close interaction with the world and keeping up with the times. It's a two-way street. How has the relations between China and the world changed in the 4 decades? How has the world changed China and how has China changed the world?

Panelists
- Bob CARR, Former Foreign Minister, Australia
- FANG Xinghai, Vice Chairman, China Securities Regulatory Commission

14:00 - 15:30  CEO Roundtable 9
The Belt & Road Initiative: The Role of RMB

Building Resilience in US-China Economic Ties
(Dongyu Island Hotel, Hesheng Ballroom)
(Invitation Only)
- Some argue that big-nation relations are not always smooth, but must be resilient enough to go beyond difficulties and differences and find common ground. Resilience means that differences, frictions and problems can not derail bilateral relations.
- What are some of the short-term risks in US-China economic ties?
- What need to be done to build resilience in the relationship?

15:15 - 15:45  Coffee Break

15:45 - 17:00  Session 17
The Japanese Economy
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)
- Deflation has been the No.1 headache for the Japanese economy for 20 years. Will Japan be able to put it behind this time? What can other economies learn from Japan’s expansionary monetary policies?
- Population is another headache. Some argue that the fundamental and imminent solution lies in Womenomics – engaging more women in jobs, full-time jobs and senior positions. Does it work?
- Japan has been know for its commitment to craftsmanship in manufacturing. Some, however, doubt the wisdom of “excessive” obsession with craftsmanship at the expense of consumer appetite and market trends. How to strike the balance?
- The services sector worldwide has been plagued by high costs but low productivity. What’s the Japanese solution?
Session 18
Blockchain: In Plain Words and In Practice
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)
- Speculation will in many cases discredit a class of asset and the underlying theory. The recent crackdown of regulators on virtual currency speculators (ICO, for example) has casted doubts on the validity of the underlying Blockchain theory.
- Is there a plain-words way to introduce Blockchain to the general public? Are there good cases of Blockchain application to convince regulators that it is more than hype and speculation?
- What can Blockchain do better than traditional finance that makes it worthwhile? Other than finance, can it apply in other sectors?

Moderator

Session 19
Financial Risks: Black Swan, Grey Rhino & the Minsky Moment
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom D)
- When days turn good, it doesn't bode well for financial reforms. With better-than-expected economic performance and rising market optimism, the need for financial reforms may fade out. Is the global financial system safer, or riskier? When the economy goes up, what shall we do about risks?
- The US has strengthened financial regulation with Dodd-Frank and other measures. How are they working? When President Trump called for deregulation, what did he mean?
- China has made financial risks and de-leveraging the top priority of its economic agenda. What are the risks it deems "systemic"? Which sectors need de-leveraging most?

15:45 - 17:00 Higher Education Roundtable 11
The Rise of Asian Universities
(Dongyu Island Hotel, Hesheng Ballroom)
- In the next 10-20 years, 3 of the 4 largest economies will be in Asia (China, Japan and India). Asia has a long tradition of putting education first. With Asia growing richer, one of the first things to do is to put more and more money in education, in particular higher education and R&D. Economically, the world’s gravity is shifting eastwards. Are Asian universities keeping pace?
- What can Asian universities learn from counterparts in the UK, Germany and the US?
- The world economy has been globalized. Universities are similarly going global. How to retain their "Asian touch" to avoid becoming just another global institute?

The Sharing Economy: Getting Down to Business
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)

- Whenever there is a boom, mostly there is a bubble and a capital rush. So it is the case with the Sharing Economy. In the past 2 years, the concept has attracted enormous investments and expanded to areas way beyond imagination. The concept itself has undergone significant changes in terms of the “stuff” that can be shared and the line between commercial and public good.
- Beyond all the fanfare, it may be time to cool down and get down to the real business of the Sharing Economy: profit-making and a sustainable business model.
- What are the best practices and successful business models for the sharing economy up to now?

The “New Cycle” of Commodities?
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom C)
- The strong performance of the commodities market in the first half of 2017 seems to many the beginning of a new cycle. Further supporting the optimism are better-than-expected global economic recovery, President Trump’s 1 trillion infrastructure, China’s supply-side structural reforms and the recent shutting down of tens of thousands of polluting factories. Is a new cycle coming?
- How will the tightening of monetary policies of major central banks affect commodities? Is the market less driven by speculation now, or more?
- Implications for the real economy

Put AI to Work
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)

- It’s the era of ABC (Artificial Intelligence, Big Data, Cloud Computing). And AI is believed to lie at the core of the Smart Era.
- This is not the first time that AI came under the spotlight. What can make the difference this time is to put AI to work in the real world, in production, services and life.
- Can AI work this time, proving to the world through mass commercial use that it’s not just on paper or in imagination?

Monetary Policies: Back to Normal
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)

- Major economies have, are or prepare to quit monetary easing and get back to normal. Do economic growth and inflationary pressures support such a shift, or it’s just out of fear of the unintended consequences or risks of prolonged unconventional monetary policies?
- History shows that tightening is much harder and risky than expansion, often leading to contraction of the economy or disruption of recovery. Are there proven exit strategies? What can we learn from past failures?
- In tightening monetary policies, developed countries need to take into account the spillover effects for emerging markets. G20 offers a valuable platform for developed and developing economies to coordinate policies. What can G20 do to curb such adverse effects?

SOE Reform

(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom D)
- The report of the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China has identified the direction, objectives and requirements for the reform and development of SOEs and State-owned assets supervision and administration authorities in the new era. Specifically, what are the measures to be taken to implement them?
- Since the priority has been shifted to the management of capital, what are the changes for the State-owned assets supervision and administration authorities and for the SOEs? Will it be better for SOEs to be independent market players?
- What is the idea of promoting mixed ownership reform? What are the key problems and difficulties? What are the opportunities for foreign enterprises?
- SOEs are given “special treatment” in market access by certain countries. Will it have a negative impact on the international operations of SOEs? How to deal with this concern?
- The reform and development of SOEs and State-owned assets supervision and administration authorities follow law of their own, while each country has its own unique features. What are the characteristics of China’s state-owned assets supervision model and the path of SOE reform?

The New Retail: New Concept, or New Trend?
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)

- E-Commerce has moved a large chunk of the retail business on-line and created a new way of shopping and life. After years of explosive growth, it has encountered its own problems and bottlenecks, be it market saturation or APRU.
- Jack Ma of Alibaba said that the era of e-Commerce is over and will give way to the New Retail which will change the face of e-Commerce and create another new way of shopping and life.
- How will the New Retail do that? And how different will it be from e-Commerce and the traditional retail business?

Tax Cuts: A Global Race to the Bottom
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)

- The United States is pondering an unprecedented tax cut to 15% for corporate tax. The UK government pledges to cut corporate tax to 17% by 2020. India has launched an unprecedented GST reform. China has also lowered corporate tax burden through VAT reforms. There seems to be a global tax cut race so as to be at least tax competitive. Do it work from a historical point of view?
March 6, 2018

How will the global tax race affect global investments?
- Aside from cutting tax rates, are there other tax reforms that help attract and retain talents, capital and companies?

Internet: Playing the Second Half of the Game
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom D)
- Many Internet companies have come to realize that the first half of the game, where market share/user number counts, is over. It’s now the second half when APRU and profits matter most. It is getting more expensive to acquire new users; existing users are getting more selective; the line between on-line and physical shops is increasingly blurred.
- Are Internet companies ready for the change?

The Future of Finance: To Change, or Be Changed?
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)
- Bill Gates said many years ago that banks would become the 21st Century dinosaurs if they did not change. Jack Ma said if banks did not change, we would change them.
- Fintech, or Internet Banking as better known in China, has grown way ahead of people’s imagination and ahead of developed countries including the US. It has not just brought impact on traditional finance. Many believe that it represents the future of finance.
- How has Fintech fared after the initial, unregulated stage of barbaric growth?
- What is the traditional finance doing to adapt?
- Will there be a day when Fintech and traditional finance converge into a form of New Finance, similar to the New Retail which converges e-Commerce and traditional retail business?

The New Reform Agenda: Government vs the Market
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom D)
- All schools of economics seek to strike the right balance between government and the market. Different economies and different development models have different stories to tell, different experiences and lessons.
- China has come a long way from a planned economy to the "Decisive Role of the Market". How to evaluate the role of the market in the past 40 years?
- An important experience China can share with the rest of the world is government can and has played an important role in its economic take-off. What can China share with the world what government can do and what government cannot do?
- China has achieved miraculous growth in its 40 years of reform and opening. Now it's time to press ahead and take on the hard nuts.
What are the hard nuts to crack in the new reform agenda?

Identify “Pillars” in the Capital Market Reform
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom A)
- Chinese regulators have vowed to make sweeping structural reforms in the capital market. In Chairman Liu Shiyu’s words, these reforms constitute the “pillars” of a sound capital market. What are these “pillar” structural reforms he refers to?
- A-shares have been incorporated into the MSCI Emerging Market
Index. This was interpreted as a landmark for the opening of China’s capital market. How important is it, both short-term and long-term?

- 2 years after the plummeting, how has the stock market recovered?
- Financial risk and deleveraging is the top priority for the Chinese Government. How does the capital market guard against black swan and grey rhino?

Embracing a Different Housing Market
(ICC, Level 1, Dong Yu Grand Ballroom B)
- China’s real estate prices have successfully challenged the wisdom of economists and the will of decision-makers for 20 years running. This time, the decision-makers speak loud and in unequivocal terms that houses are for living, not for speculation. Has the market got the message? Has the market understood the message?
- A long-term mechanism of sound development of the real estate market has been called for. This time, what will the government do to set it up?
- It goes without doubt that real estate plays a vital role in China’s economic take-off. Will the government redefine its role in the economy when it stresses the living purpose of houses?
